

Resumption of flights To New York

We regret to announce that due to increased cancellations of flight bookings to New York City, we have pushed back the resumption of our service to this destination to 29th November.

We greatly appreciate the interest and support of our customers who had booked with us and have made alternative arrangements for their travel.

We sincerely apologise for the inconvenience caused.

Flights to London and Paris

Following the announcement on the lockdown measures in England and France, we are assessing any possible impact to our flight schedule. If your flight will be affected, we will contact you to advise you on the alternative possible options for your travel.

In the meantime, we continue to allow you to book for your flights with confidence, with the assurance that any changes to your travel plans will be accommodated at no extra cost.